Legal Aid Commission (ACT) (Legal Aid)

Legal Aid was established under the Legal Aid Act 1977. Its mission is to promote a just society in the Australian Capital Territory by:

- ensuring that vulnerable and disadvantaged people receive the legal services they need to protect their rights and interests
- developing an improved community understanding of the law, and
- seeking reform of laws that adversely affect those we assist.

Further information about Legal Aid can be found at <http://www.legalaidact.org.au>

Legal Aid Lawyers

Lawyers provide legal advice, representation in ACT and Commonwealth courts and tribunals, engage in outreach services and community legal education and assist with law reform proposals. Lawyers represent clients in courts and tribunals and may appear as counsel in superior courts.

Lawyers are expected and encouraged to work across and rotate through sections and practices from time to time, in order to enhance professional development or to meet operational needs.

Legal Aid lawyers have the same rights, privileges and responsibilities as a member of the private legal profession, including the same professional and CPD requirements.

Position Overview

A Graduate Lawyer is a new or less experienced lawyer who will be supported in undertaking a range of work such as providing information, advice and community legal education and representing clients in Courts and Tribunals.

A Graduate Lawyer may also participate in Family Law Dispute Resolution, Helpline, the Domestic Violence Unit and the Youth Law Centre.

In addition, a Graduate Lawyer will conduct outreach service in community centres or venues and attend Correctional Centres such as the Bimberi Youth Justice Centre and the Alexander Maconochie Centre.

Duty Lawyer services are provided on weekends at the ACT Magistrates Court, and lawyers are expected to roster onto this service at least twice each year.

Lawyers may be exposed to vicarious trauma through evidence or materials (listening or reading descriptions of traumatic events experienced by others) or as a result of witnessing violence, abuse or neglect against someone else.

The role will include but is not limited to:

Legal Services

- Provide legal information and advice at face-to-face interviews, or by telephone as required
